Pycnogenol helps to protect sperm from free radical damage

Pycnogenol(pine tree bark) from Pinus pinaster is rich in natural phytochemicals called proanthocyanidins. These are potent antioxidants, much more powerful than other commonly known antioxidants such as vitamins C and E. Roseff(2002) believes that it is the proanthocyanidins in pine bark that are responsible for increasing healthy sperm concentrations.

Pycnogenol & L-arginine do wonders together to improve erectile dysfunction

The combination therapy of Arginine and Pycnogenol resulted in an increase in patients with restored sexual function by 80%. This increased again to 92.5% after the third month of treatment. Researchers concluded that this combination therapy can significantly improve male sexual function without negative side effects. ("Stanislavov, R. et. al. (2008), a randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled, crossover trial, International Journal of Impotence Research Volume 20 (pp. 173–180)."
